for: 1. Building awareness of the importance of falls prevention and treatment; 2. Improving the assessment of individual, environmental, and societal factors that increase the likelihood of falls; and 3. For facilitating the design and implementation of culturally appropriate, evidence-based interventions that will significantly reduce the number of falls among older persons. The model provides strategies and solutions that will require the engagement of

Where To Download

Where To Download

Multiple sectors of society. It is dependent on and consistent with the vision articulated in the WHO Active Ageing Policy Framework.

Although not all of the awareness, assessment, and intervention strategies identified in the model apply

Where To Download

equally well in all regions of the world, there are significant evidence-based strategies that can be effectively implemented in all regions and cultures. The degree to which progress will be made depends on to the success in

Where To Download

Integrating falls prevention strategies into the overall health and social care agendas globally. In order to do this effectively, it is necessary to identify and implement culturally appropriate, evidence-based policies and procedures. This requires multi-sectoral, collaborations, strong commitment to public and professional education, interaction based on evidence drawn from a variety of traditional, complementary, and alternative sources.

Where To Download

Where To Download

Although the understanding of the evidence-base is growing, there is much that is not yet understood. Thus, there is an urgent need for continued research in all areas of falls prevention and treatment in order to better understand the scope of the problem worldwide.

In particular, more evidence of the cost-
effectiveness of
interconnections is needed to develop strategies that are most likely to be effective in specific setting and population sub-
groups.

Management

As the number of older adults
continues to rise,
falling in older

national health care
issue. Many older adults who fall
reside in assisted

Every time a fall incident occurs, first responders are called, utilizing a significant amount of first responder time and resources.

Therefore, the purpose of this project was to implement a fall prevention program for residents of an reduce fall risk and fall-related calls to department. The project consisted of
