Mo Home Filec 6. Can a non-polar molecule contain polar bonds? Explain your answer with an example, Without using the simulator, 7. Using carbon, hydrogen, and oxygen and what you know of valence shells, covalent bonding, and electronegativities, create one molecule and draw it. Explain the polarity of the bonds and of the molecule. Activity 2.

The molecular dipole determines the overall polarity of the molecule and how it interacts with other molecules and its environment. BTW: The molecular dipole is found by adding the bond dipoles together while taking into account the direction of the bond dipole; think a tug-of-war. Take some time and adjust each of the atom's locations and electronegativity values several times.

The molecule is polar because it does not have the same charge. H=Positive charge. F=Negative charge. H2O (water) The molecule is polar, because it doesn't have the same charge. H1 and H2=Have a positive and an electrostatic potential charge. O=Negative charge. CH2F2 Is polar because, it have some charges that have atoms that are positive and negative.
